RUSSIAN STEAM ROLLER IS CRUSHING ALL BEFORE IT

ON NORTH, SOUTH AND CENTER THE GERMANS ARE OVERWHELMED IN GREAT OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT

Ottoman Resistance Falls Before Russians Leaving Frontiers Open to Invasion--French Within 16 Miles of Historic Rhine.

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 21.—Russia's three-fold assault on the Germanic allies has, in the opinion of British observers of the war, resumed its steam roller characteristics alike in the north, the center and the south.

In the north the advance into East Prussia is reported threatening the German lines of communication, and in Poland the trench warfare continues with small results for either side, but the Russians confidently dwell on what they call large German losses in efforts to hold present positions.

In the south the Russians declare that the Austrian resistance seems to have been broken down entirely and that Transylvania lies open to them. Reports of Roumania's long awaited entrance into the fight continue to circulate. One rumor today has it, however, Roumania will not only declare war but that she will throw troops into Transylvania, which is Hungarian territory, for the purpose of protecting Roumanian nationals.

Meanwhile German official utterance continues optimistic. Telegrams reaching here from Berlin record the arrival there of Archduke Charles Francis, the Austrian crown prince, and Dr. Von Bethman Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, who are to be joined shortly by Baron Burian; the new Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs presumably for a conference regarding a plan of campaign against Russia, as well as the adoption of suitable measures against the prospective entrance into the war of Italy and Roumania.

Recent dispatches from Sweden indicate that a German airship attack on the new Finnish railroad between Sweden and Russia is coming to be expected. This is the line that runs around the northern end of the Gulf of Bothnia. Its destruction would be a serious blow to Russia, as the only other routes of communication between Russia and her allies are by way of the Baltic Sea, or through Archangel, on the north. The former route has been made impassable by mines and the latter is likely to be cut off any day by ice.

London, Jan. 21.—Russian accounts of the war with Turkey make appear that the resistance of the Ottoman troops has virtually collapsed. A Russian official statement says that the Turks, after suffering heavy losses, are retreating.

It is said, also, that a Russian warship sank 12 vessels off the coast of Asia Minor.

Fighting between Austrians and Montenegrins, almost at a standstill on account of the winter weather, has been resumed. The Austrians bombarded Montenegrin positions at Zetinje, but no damage was inflicted. The allies now have their eyes on the Rhine and British troops may be sent to Belfort, in eastern France, to take part in any possible advance toward the river, says a Geneva report, which lacks verification. It is stated that the advance French trenches are within 16 miles of the Rhine.

GRAVE RESULTS PREDICTED IF PURCHASE BILL PASSES

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senate Republicans continued their fight today on the administration's Purchase bill.

Senator Weeks, denying that he sought to filibuster, resumed his attack. Democratic leaders, meanwhile, sought to reach an agreement on proposed amendments, so their caucus might complete revision of the bill tonight.

"We want to get the facts before the country and we are taking the only way left to us to accomplish it," said Senator Weeks. "I believe there are possibilities of gravest international complications involved in the passage of this bill, and that if it passed it would be ineffective.

Turning to President Wilson's Indianapolis speech, Mr. Weeks declared the people of the country, judging from press reports, could not understand how the President "could have so far lapsed from his previous poise and good taste as to go to the other extreme by indulging in not only questionable taste but the unfounded statements with which his whole address was filled."

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 21.—Declaring that the country was halting in business and progress and learning the unwise steps that had been taken and needed to be retraced, William H. Taft, former president, said here today that the people should go back to the line of justice, equity and moderation. Professor Taft was the guest of Indiana University.

He said the hostility of Legislature and Congress, conscious or unconsciously, has come to be directed against all successful investment or capital, without discrimination.

Governor Whitman of New York decided to have an investigation of the recent trial and acquittal of William V. Cleary, town clerk of Haverstraw, N. Y., for the killing in last July of his young son-in-law, Eugene M. Newman. The governor received from Frederick E. Newman, father of the slain boy, formal charges against District Attorney Thomas Gagan of Rockland county. Mr. Gagan is accused specifically of suppressing testimony favorable to the state's case.

ETTOR OUT ON $5,000 BOND

By Associated Press.

St. Clairsville, O., Jan. 21.—Joseph J. Ettor, Industrial Worker of the World leader, who has been in jail here awaiting a hearing on the charge of treason, was arraigned before Mayor Davis this morning. He entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over to the grand jury.

Ettor gave bail for $5000 and immediately left town with his attorney after agreeing not to enter Belmont county again or to send any of his representatives here.

TAFT LAMBASTS THE DEMMIES

EXPORTS GREATLY INCREASED MORE TROUBLE

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Five times as much wheat and six times as much corn were exported from the United States in December as in the same month in 1913.

Flour export increased more than 68 per cent for the same period; fresh beef increased more than twelvefold, and generally the exports of "bread stuffs", which included practically all the staple grains, increased five times.

These figures were given today in a preliminary statement from the Department of Commerce, issued in response to many inquiries as to what extent food stuffs were going abroad, with resulting abnormal prices at home.

The Department summary says: "Wheat exports in December aggregated 28,875,217 bushels, or five times the quantity in December, 1912 namely, 5,724,027."

VILLA OFFERS REASSURANCE

Washington, Jan. 21.—While the American government today awaited Great Britain's explanation of her seizure of the American steamer Greenbrier, it developed that American sailors of her crew, as well as those of the steamer Carolyn, had been arrested by German authorities at Bremen.

In a brief dispatch, informing the State Department that the sailors had been released from detention and were now free to join their ships when they left the port, the American consul at Bremen gave the first information that the sailors had been arrested and added no details.

The Department summary says: "Wheat exports in December aggregated 28,875,217 bushels, or five times the quantity in December, 1912 namely, 5,724,027."

Washington, Jan. 21.—Consular Agent Carothers, reporting to the State Department today a conversation with Villa, said the general had informed him that many of the troops which left Mexico City with General Gutierrez were returning to the Villa ranks.

Villa gave renewed assurances for protection of Americans and all other foreigners.

LOCAL HORSEMAN QUOTED IN NOTED EQUINE JOURNAL

In the last issue of the Horse World, one of the leading American equine journals, published at Buffalo, appears a story containing the substance of a talk made by Mr. Charles Allen, local, widely known horseman, to horsemen in Detroit last week.

The expression of the local man's views through the Horse World medium is a high tribute to his authority. The story follows:

"Charles Allen, of Washington C. H., breeder, salesman and newspaperman, has furnished to the buyers for the warring nations of Europe some 300 horses since the opening of the war last summer, and, as those who know Mr. Allen, will assume, most of horses it is the intention to equip

DISASTROUS EXPERIMENT

Springfield, O., Jan. 21.—While testing a new automobile invention in a garage at New Carlisle, O., six persons were injured when the gasoline tank of the automobile exploded. O. F. Baughman, mechanic, was burned and is expected to die; Dr. A. W. Detrick was badly burned; Ira Morningstar's face and hands were cut and burned. Among the others slightly cut are Clyde Johnson, Ray Baughman and Isaac Studebaker, all residents of New Carlisle.

The invention was being tested on Dr. Detrick's automobile, and its object was to do away with the carburetor. The men were watching the operation when the tank exploded.

FEDERALS ATTACK ORGANIZED BALL

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The world's greatest baseball game was called here with Federal Judge Landis acting as umpire. Leading magnates of baseball and modest fans intent on seeing the fun were all in evidence. Keene H. Addington of counsel for the Federal league was first to take position at the plate, and he did not relinquish the oratorical bat until five hours had elapsed. He verbally battered organized baseball as a huge monopoly of men and a commercial power that enslaves and controls a vast supply of skilled labor. Addington flayed the draft rule. He termed it "gambling, speculating and a pernicious practice, striking at the very heart of our American institutions."

SECY. BRYAN GIVES REASON

Washington, Jan. 21.—The following statement was given out by Secretary Bryan with regard to reports concerning John Cutright, until recently vice consul at Coburg, Germany, who is alleged to have written pro-German letters which were published in a newspaper at Omaha, Neb.:

"Mr. Cutright was vice consul at Coburg and was transferred to Nottingham, England. After the transfer was made the attention of the department was called to a letter written by Mr. Cutright and published in the Omaha World Herald. The department is not informed as to whether the letter was written for publication or intended as a private communication to a friend, but as it contained expressions of opinion in regard to the war, Mr. Cutright's appointment to Nottingham was revoked and he was recalled."

Belmont and Schiff Appear Before Federal Commission.

PROBLEM OF THE UNEMPLOYED

Federal Employment Agency Idea Endorsed by Schiff, Who Also Contends There Is an Advantage to Labor in Dealing With Large Organizations of Capital—Belmont Aims Views on Strikes and Labor Unions.

New York, Jan. 21.—Jacob H. Schiff and August Belmont were examined by the United States commission on industrial relations as to the causes of the present industrial unrest.

Mr. Belmont named a great many corporations in which he is interested as officer and director. He admitted that he received no regular reports as chairman of the board of the Interborough Rapid Transit company as to labor conditions in that company, but he declared that he was not himself ignorant of those conditions.

"What is your personal opinion of the closed shop and of unions in general?" asked Commissioner Weinstock.

"There are cases where the closed shop works very well and cases where it does not. As a rule I am in favor of union labor." Mr. Belmont said he did not know of any panacea for strikes. As for a permanent federal industrial council having supervision over such matters, he doubted if under our constitution it could receive sufficient power to make it practicable.

Mr. Schiff said during his examination that he believed that the only effective agency for dealing with the problem of the unemployed was a federal agency. Only by a national commission, he thought, can the idle be brought to the place where there is work.

Mr. Schiff said that he thought no boy under fourteen ought to be employed in labor for profit, that every provision to protect morals and health ought to be made, and that he could not recall the charge that the Western Union frequently sent boys into the vice districts at night.

Commissioner Weinstock then asked Mr. Schiff if he agreed with Samuel Untermyer on the propositions that the federal reserve act was one of the greatest pieces of constructive legislation of our time and that two groups of bankers in this city control most of the railroads of this country.

"I agree with him as to the federal reserve act," said Schiff; "as to his other proposition it is sheer nonsense. There is no such control. If stockholders would exercise their rights, which I am afraid you can never make them do by passing laws, very little mismanagement of the railroads would occur."

"Is the condition of many large industries in the hands of a few inimical to labor?" was asked. "Yes and no. I believe there is an advantage to labor in dealing with large organizations of capital."

"Isn't it a fact that the great corporations, notwithstanding the lime-light in which their officials stand, are frequently not amenable to public opinion and can ignore it utterly, as is the case in Colorado?" "The last word has not been spoken in Colorado," said Mr. Schiff. "Public opinion is always right."

Peopleing a New Land

Out on the crest of the Ozark mountains—not on the rugged, jagged peaks nor in the rocky gorges, but way up on the big rolling knobs and tablelands—big corporations and wealthy individuals are endeavoring to build up a rural community.

Their endeavors are prospering, too, in a measure. From the swamp lands down near the edge of the broad Mississippi, middle-aged men and women with families of boys and girls, tired out with the fight against mosquitoes and malaria, have given up the battle at that point to again take up the fighting in the zones above the lands of "chills and fevers". From the broad prairies of Kansas, Nebraska and Texas men and women have tired of the solitude and the vastness of the endless plains and are now seeking the company of the inviting hills. From the prosperous farming communities of the middle west, the young men of well to do parentage, anxious to get a large acreage in exchange for their limited capital, come full of the ambition of youth and supreme confidence in their ability to conquer. Even the prosperous farmers, owners of big farms in the sections of high class farm lands, purchase a few acres believing that that which man has passed by in the race for a living and which other men have sought to conquer and failed in the attempt, will yet prove valuable.

Can those broad, rolling knobs and plateaus of thin soil, ever be made productive farm lands, capable of supporting a rural population?

That's a question, which, if answered either yes or no, must be qualified.

If a man is strong enough mentally and physically, he can make a living and a little more on that land. But he must be strong enough mentally to withstand all desire for man-made pleasures and luxuries, strong enough to stay and fight it out—a long tedious battle with small pay and little pleasure for the man who loves other things besides work.

The man who loves close neighbors, the city and the throng had better not undertake it. The man who, with his family under one roof is content to let the world go on in its own way while he gives it no heed, the man who shuns the unpleasant competition of the more populous centers and wants only to live and let live, who wants but little, who does not interfere with others and does not want others to interfere with him, will prosper in a very moderate way.

No one will get rich in that section—at least not in the life-time of this generation, nor perhaps in the life-time of the next, but all will live and on an equal footing.

Already the section is settling up, the patches of clearing are growing larger month by month, and the number of clearings is increasing too.

Railroads, rickety, rough, primitive affairs have stretched out through narrow valley and deep gorge and around the cliffs to the top of the mountains. New towns have sprung up and old ones have been rejuvenated.

The little frame hotels without a carpet on the floor, with cheap oil lamps and with furniture of the style of the seventies, invite the traveler to abide within until the train comes—the communities of the style of other days when it is THE train, because there is only one train each day.

Perhaps most of the people who are now going to the top of the mountains to live and to "farm" will make a failure of it, perhaps the companies who are offering great quantities of land for sale to settlers will reap a harvest of dollars—perhaps the present games are not square and yet on the other hand, perhaps the companies will lose out.

But whether this second pilgrimage of man to the mountain tops results in another failure or not, those great stretches of land will yet be made to pay tribute to man's perseverance and man's industry. Perhaps this is not the time for the success of a movement to people the hills, but thousands think that it is and are willing to risk their little pile of money and their energy and their pleasure in the big game in which nature opposes them.

This fight to people a land, passed by and "passed up" by thousands, is fascinating to any person who wonders how man in the aggregate manages to live.

Warring Nations Will Soon Seek Halls of The Hague Peace Palace

By Dr. FREDERICK LYNCH, Secretary of the Carnegie Church Peace Union

ALL over the world men are asking, Was it (the Peace palace at The Hague) a delusion, a vain dream, an idle hope? Was it not simply a munificent testimony to an unfounded ideal in the heart of its great donor? From England, Germany and France have recently come three books, one from each land, deriding all those beautiful hopes of which the palace is an eloquent symbol. NOT ONLY ARE THE WAYS OF DREAMS VAIN, BUT THE WAYS OF PEACE ARE UNDESIRABLE, THEY SAY. A PALACE OF IMPOSSIBLE FAITH AND SHATTERED DREAMS, MEN ARE CALLING IT—A TEMPLE TO AN IDEAL TOO HIGH FOR MEN.

To all of which we answer, wait. To be sure, its marble halls are empty, to be sure, the nations now rush by its open doors, heedless of its call.

BUT ITS DOORS ARE OPEN, AND WE BELIEVE THAT SOONER THAN MEN NOW DARE DREAM THE TIRED AND WEARY NATIONS WILL SEEK ITS WAITING HALLS.

WAR.

Tramp, oh tramp, ten thousand feet,
March proudly down the city street.
With haughty step and lordly mein,
With clank of steel and bayonet's
gleam,
While cheering thousands line the way
And make of war a gala day.
Tramp, tramp, with solemn feet and slow,

The long, long lines of mourners go,
While wailing fife and muffled drum,
And sobbing crowds, all standing dumb.
Their solemn, awful tribute yield
To Death—god of the battlefield.

O God! When will the people rise,
And strip from war its pleasing guise
And show its hideous horrors all,
The Mockeries of its pomp, and call
It murder, though a king may name
That glory which we know is shame?

Had Never Seen Salt Water.
"At Coyde," writes Arno Dusch, the war correspondent of the World's Work Magazine, "a whole company of French soldiers was standing along the edge of the water, jumping back in surprise when the little waves advanced on them. They told us they were from the center of France and had never seen salt water before."

ARMY CAMP WATER.

How the Supply Is Conserved and Used
In the German Army.

Suitable drinking water is of vital importance to an army, and this is only one of a multitude of problems that must be studied carefully by those who conduct a successful campaign. The water supply of a camp is a matter of great importance. Only running water is used.

In the German army the upstream water is used for drinking purposes and the downstream water for watering horses and for bathing. Suitable signs notify the men which water is safe to drink and which may be used only for bathing. In shallow or narrow streams basins are dug or small dams built so as to form reservoirs of ample dimensions.

Stepping stones are provided to keep the water clean, as well as board protection to prevent the banks from crumbling. Basins are dug for watering horses; troughs are provided only in case of necessity and are then propped on posts and filled by means of pumps. Pipes may be driven if water lies at a reasonable depth—in other words, not more than twenty feet. Depending upon their size, these pipes will deliver from four to twenty-two gallons of water per minute.

If water lies very near the surface a hole is dug and a cask, the bottom of which has been knocked out, is placed in the hole to form a basin. If the water lies at a greater depth the basin may be formed of box sections driven in one on top of the other.—Scientific American.

FISHES WITH ITS WINGS.

The Cassowary Has a Way of Its Own For Capturing Its Prey.

Habits of the cormorant and of our native fish hawk are generally known. Their methods of taking fish are very much like those of birds of prey. But the cassowary fishes according to a method of its own. A well known naturalist witnessed its operations on a river in the island of New Britain.

He saw a cassowary come down to the water's edge and stand for some minutes apparently watching the water carefully. It then stepped into the river where it was about three feet deep and, partially squatting down, spread its wings out, submerging them, the feathers being spread and ruffled.

The bird remained motionless and kept its eyes closed as if in sleep. It remained in this position for a quarter of an hour, when, suddenly closing its wings and straightening its feathers, it stepped out on the bank. Here it shook itself several times, whereupon a quantity of small fishes fell out of its wings and from amid its feathers. These the bird immediately picked up and swallowed.

The fishes had evidently mistaken the feathers for a kind of weed that grows in the water along the banks of the river in this island and which much resemble the feathers of the cassowary. The smaller fishes hide in these weeds to avoid the larger ones that prey on them.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Camels in Warfare.

Camels are a feature of warfare in the far east. Basar was in the year 636 the scene of a fight known as the battle of the camel, in which Ayesha, the wife of Mahomet, headed the charge mounted upon one of these beasts. And down through the centuries Arab hosts have been led by a girl riding on a blackened camel, singing songs of encouragement to her own side and insult to the other. According to the strict rules of the game, her capture or death meant the flight of her tribe, while in the event of victory she led the triumphal march.—London Chronicle.

Use of Roman Letters.

Writing of the growing use of Roman letters in languages which have heretofore employed other characters, H. L. Bullen says in the Graphic Arts that "in the revolt of Albania, which preceded and brought on the recent war in Turkey, the Albanians demanded the right to use the Roman geometric forms of letters instead of the Turkish cursive forms." He states also that in Japan the type founders now make more of Roman types than the Japanese characters formerly in universal use.

FEEDING HUNGRY OF WASHINGTON

Brought to Fine Art by Local Caterer—Recognizing and Meeting Peculiar and Various Demands of Mankind Proves Mainstay of Flourishing Business Institution.

No matter how adaptable to general conditions he may be, the average person is a pronounced crank when it comes to eating. Secretly, perhaps, but certainly, nevertheless. A man may be content to sleep on a plank and he may take pleasure in the most trying labor or the most trifling amusement but when it comes to partaking of his daily sustenance he "wants what he wants" and he likes it prepared in whatever way it best suits his palate. And many times he does not get what he wants and the fact is not encouraging to his disposition.

Recognizing the truth of this theory and conducting his business accordingly, Mr. W. S. Armintrout began operation six months ago of the Dairy Lunch room in the basement of the Pavey building on Court street which has become one of Washington's principal eating houses with a custom that is demanding a constant enlarging of facilities.

Cozy and comfortable and removed from the glamour of traffic the Dairy Lunch is one of the most inviting nooks in the city. Equipped with every modern sanitary improvement, its large kitchens operated under the direction of expert chefs; its prices more than moderate; its dining compartments attractively furnished and made comfortable by city heating and electrical appliances, it is verily a welcome haven to the exacting gastronomer, who might well be called the general public.

When it started the Dairy Lunch was furnished to accommodate 40 persons at one time. Recently it has been necessary to enlarge the capacity to 65.

The main feature of the Dairy Lunch is that its patrons may choose their viands themselves. On long, immaculate serving tables are arranged the various foods for the different meals. Direct from the steaming serving pans the customer chooses his cooked foods. He sees what he is getting and the variety he is offered is well-nigh bewildered. Usually there are from 6 to 10 different kinds of meat and fish to choose from; the same number of vegetables; all kinds of fresh baked pastries; four or five kinds of breads, biscuits, rolls, etc.; as many varieties of drink and, in fact, about everything in the line of edibles generally contained in two or three restaurants. Then, if he doesn't see what he wants all he has to do is ask for it and his wish is promptly materialized.

Mr. Armintrout took over the Dairy Lunch in August from Mrs. Stella Pyley. He is an experienced restaurant man, having operated restaurants in Columbus and Southport, N. C., respectively, before coming here.

Recently, within the past few days in fact, he formed a partnership with Mr. P. L. Hammond, well-known grocer of Washington avenue, and the business is now being conducted under their joint supervision.

LECTURE ON CHINA GREATLY ENJOYED

Mrs. Daniel Shepardson spoke Wednesday night to a large audience who assembled to hear her lecture on "China and the Chinese". A Chinese shop was placed on the platform and held many articles of value and religious significance. Mrs. Shepardson said: "In four respects China is the greatest country in the world; population, age, honor and originality. When God said, let there be light and there was light, China began. It has not proceeded with cyclonic growth like the western world, but from the beginning China has never stood still. There are no museums in China because there is no need of having them. China is a living country and her people are there with the history of the Chinese Empire written upon their steadfast countenances and lacquered brows."

Mrs. Shepardson tore down the old flag of China and revealed the new one recently adopted by the Empire. Her evening lectures close tonight. The subject tonight is "On Horseback Through Palestine."

Tomorrow afternoon she will speak in Grace church on "The Harren Life in Jerusalem," beginning at 3:30 o'clock, or one hour later than originally planned, on account of a funeral.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Shepardson spoke to the women of the Presbyterian church.

GAMBLING DEVICES ORDERED PACKED

Early this week, following a persistent rumor that gambling was being carried on in some places in the city, Mayor Coffey issued orders to Chief Moore to notify persons suspected of having gambling paraphernalia to pack the devices so that there would be no likelihood of the devices being placed in operation when the police were not on the scene.

All promptly complied with the order with the exception of one man and steps were taken by Mayor Coffey and the police with the result that the equipment was packed immediately.

All so-called "social games" also were ordered discontinued in places suspected of gambling.

"I positively will not permit gambling and other infractions of the law if I know that it is going on," said Mayor Coffey in discussing the matter.

ORDERS WOMAN TO LEAVE THE CITY

A complaint made to the police, coming from Chestnut street, Wednesday afternoon, resulted in the police making an investigation and a woman being ordered to get out of the city without further delay.

GOOD HOPE HIGH SCHOOL BOOMING

Is Chartered as First Grade High School This Week, and Is to Receive Valuable Collection of Mineral Specimen from Smithsonian Institute—Supt. Hartman Busy.

District Superintendent J. M. Hartman received word Wednesday from State Inspector of High Schools W. E. Sealock that at a meeting of the Inspectors Monday, a charter for a First Grade High school was granted for Good Hope.

This means much to the patrons of Good Hope High school. Those who graduate from the school can now be admitted to any college in the state.

Supt. Hartman also received word of the shipment of rocks and minerals from the Smithsonian Institute for Good Hope High school. This collection was obtained through the aid of Congressmen Post and Foss.

Much credit must be given Supt. Hartman for his services in building up the schools. They now have an excellent corps of teachers and a new laboratory equipment and many new books in their library. There is an enrollment of 28 in the High school, 3 of whom will graduate in May.

WILL REOPEN LOCAL PLANT

Mr. L. C. Coffman has purchased the Parker & Wood plant on South Main street, and a new company is now being organized to make extensive changes and to place the plant in operation, but the nature of the output of the plant has not been made public, other than that the work will be along the cabinet making line.

Early organization of the company is to be made, with some four of the city's well known citizens at the head.

It is expected that the plant will be in full operation within a very short time.

GILL WILL TELL STORY OF LIFE

Sunday Convert Will Describe His Journey From the Gutter to the Pulpit at Meeting Tonight at Grace Church—Remarkable Service Last Night.

It was a large and attentive audience which greeted Mr. Bert Gill, at Grace church, Wednesday night, and an even larger audience is expected tonight when Mr. Gill tells the remarkable story of his life—of his journey from the gutter to the pulpit and of the vast difference between the two lives.

His presence Wednesday evening drew many who had not attended church for years, and many others are expected when he relates his life's history tonight.

His address Wednesday night was a plain, straightforward, unpolished testimony of what Christ is able to do for everyone. He cited numerous remarkable answers to prayers and told of his unwavering faith in the One who had wrought such wonderful transformations in his life.

Following his address and appeal to the unsaved, a dramatic incident occurred when a member of the orchestra, while playing, suddenly laid down the instrument he was playing, and went forward. So deep was the interest that sobs were audible from many parts of the room, and a woman who was deeply moved was taken by the hand by a personal worker, and she went forward. No other decisions were made, but the spirit of conviction was more apparent than at any time during the meetings, and is expected to result in more decisions tonight.

In the preliminary services Wednesday evening, Mrs. D. H. Rowe, presided, and tonight Mr. J. Earl McLean will preside.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

SEVERE CHARGES ARE CHALKED UP

Columbus, Jan. 21.—Big frauds, violation of the corrupt practices act and even bribery are charges that local Democrats and election officials will have to defend themselves against before the legislative committee on elections that is to determine whether Franklin county's five Democratic representatives are entitled to their seats.

Specific charges which the contestants will attempt to prove, as outlined to the committee by former Attorney General D. K. Watson, are that the election machinery of the county was not used in the November election according to law; that certain registrars were paid by Democrats to work in the interest of the Democratic candidates, and that many other paid agents worked in the interest of Democratic candidates, which expenses were not reported.

That great amounts of money were spent to influence voters is another charge that will have to be met. It also is charged that many unnaturalized citizens and others unqualified were permitted to vote and that many prominent citizens of Columbus spent large amounts of money to influence voters that were not reported as required by the corrupt practices act.

These charges will have to be substantiated sufficiently in the minds of the committee before it will open the ballots and make a recount of the vote, Chairman Whittemore said.

CHILD OF EIGHT WEAK AND AILING

Little Collins' Girl Also Had Stubborn Chronic Cough—
Father Tells How She Was Restored to Health by Vinol.

Lakeport, N. H.—Our little girl, 8 years of age, was in a debilitated, rundown condition, and had a stubborn, chronic cough. While she did not have to stay out of school, on account of her condition, she was weak and ailing all the time and far from well.

"We treated her cough, but nothing seemed to help her until we tried Vinol, after which we noticed an immediate improvement. Her appetite increased and now she is strong and well and we can recommend Vinol to other parents who have delicate, ailing children."—GEO. A. COLLINS, Lakeport, N. H.

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for other weak and ailing children, because they need the tissue-building, strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains. It is delicious to the taste.

That's why Vinol builds them up so quickly, and we ask parents of delicate children in this vicinity to try Vinol with the understanding that we will return their money if it fails to give satisfactory results.

SEEK TO HEAD OFF FRENCH ADVANCE

Germans Launching a Heavy Offensive In Alsace

ARTILLERY FIGHTS ON FRONT

Teuton Allies Continue Their Attacks
Against the Russian Lines in Poland and Western Galicia—German Aerial Squadron, Which Raided English Coast Towns, Gains Home Port—Operations in Caucasus.

London, Jan. 21.—The battles both in the eastern and western areas of hostilities now consist largely of artillery engagements, with occasional attacks by the infantry. The French claim to have made further progress in the region of Pont-a-Mousson, to which military men attach much importance. It is predicted that the Germans will launch a heavy offense as they did with great success at Soissons to put a stop to the French advance towards the roads leading to Metz. The Germans captured more trenches in the Argonne, but according to the French official report these trenches were retaken.

The only other point of importance disclosed by the official statements is an intimation in the Berlin communication that the Germans have undertaken a counter offensive in Alsace. In Poland and western Galicia the Germans and Austrians continue isolated attacks against the Russian lines which, according to the Russian report, have been repulsed. The Russians are advancing slowly through the mountains separating Bukowina and Transylvania, and approaching Dorna-Watra, a town of some importance near the Roumanian border. As for the Turkish Caucasian army, it is believed it will not retire to Erzerum, but will be put in readiness for defense against the Russians when they decide to advance.

German Aerial Raid.

The German airships which paid a four hours' visit to the coast towns of Norfolk dropped twenty or more bombs. The raiders' missiles killed four persons, injured ten or more others and did considerable damage to property.

Yarmouth and King's Lynn, the largest towns visited, suffered the heaviest damage. Eight bombs were dropped in the former town, one of them killing an old man and an old woman, injuring three others and smashing every window within a radius of several hundred yards. In King's Lynn a woman and boy were killed by bombs which demolished a row of cottages.

The aircraft also visited Cromer, which, however, was not attacked; Sheringham, where four bombs were dropped, Dersingham, Grimston, Snettisham and Heacham, each of which received one missile. Snettisham and Heacham are within three miles of the king's Sandringham residence.

What composed the raiding fleet is still a matter of discussion. Major Astley, who commands the national reserve at King's Lynn, says that as the result of information received by him he will report officially that one of the latest Zeppelin dirigibles took part.

that the experiment of voting by mail be tried in Ohio is sought to be carried out by the bill of Representative Liggett of Logan.

A bill by Mr. Boetham of Harrison county provides that a defeated candidate for state office may file a contest in the supreme court and contestants for district office in the appellate court and for county offices in the common pleas court. The court is to decide the contest without intervention of a jury.

A measure by Mr. Black of Wyandot transfers from the building commission to the state board of administration the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville, now about ready for occupancy. Hereafter no women convicted of felony are to be committed to the penitentiary unless condemned to be electrocuted for murder.

Representative Powell of Gallia has been selected to introduce the bill to assess the $1,000 saloon tax against brewers retailing by wagons.

The house accepted the report of the contest committee, dismissing the contest against the seating of Representative W. A. Hite, Democrat, of Perry county.

Two measures favored by railroad men were introduced in the senate by Wise of Stark and Sutter of Cuyahoga. The Wise bill provides that all steam locomotives shall be equipped with safety fire doors, operated by compressed air. The Sutter measure limits the number of cars in a freight train to sixty and the total length of the train to 2,640 feet.

Resolutions for a probe into the state banking department and to ascertain the cost of paying the losses incurred by farmers from hog losses incident to the foot and mouth disease quarantine were offered in the house by Mr. Reighard of Fulton and Mr. Black of Wyandot, respectively.

Democratic members supported the Howard proposal to investigate state offices and departments with a view to cutting salaries and reducing the number of officials.

Attorney General Turner, by the terms of the Reighard resolution, will be instructed to assist in the banking department probe. The stated object of the inquiry is the enactment of a curative act to prevent abuses in bank inspection and to afford better protection to depositors, creditors and owners "against harmful and extravagant handling of the assets of defunct banks." Charges of maladministration are made in the resolution.

The resolution appropriates $1,500 for the probe. Thirty of the farmer members of the house have told Representative Black they will support his resolution to investigate the extent of losses to hog breeders. The cost of the inquiry is limited to $500.

Plans for flood prevention would be affected by the provision in the Quinlan bill, introduced in the house, that a conservancy district may not include any part of a city unless it includes the entire city.

New Bill Launched.

Governor Willie's recommendation

Rome, Jan. 21.—A heavy fall of snow which began at Avezzano has greatly increased the misery of the earthquake sufferers. The flimsy wooden sheds in which thousands of people have been sheltered are little protection against the downfall and none at all against the bitter cold which accompanies it. The relief work, at Avezzano at least, is now so well organized, however, that the refugees will be taken care of sufficiently.

Women and children have been kept alive under the most terrible hardships, whereas men who were stronger died long before the rescuers reached them. It is now known that the town to suffer most of all from the earthquake was Gjoja-de-Mars. Only 709 persons survived out of a population of 3,700. Not a single building is standing in Gjoja above the first floor. Five hundred soldiers have reached Gjoja and have done excellent work since preventing looting and other excesses.

The ordinary life of some of the stricken towns is beginning again. At Celano a restaurant has begun business and the stores and shops are opening their doors. Thousands, however, are unable to care for themselves at all. Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page, who spent two days in the earthquake area, said that he had found conditions deplorable. The great need now, he thinks, is a sufficient supply of food.

THE RUSSIAN VIEW OF IT

Petrograd, Jan. 21.—Diplomatic sources hold that Rumania will enter the war before Feb. 15, if ever. Italy is now influencing Rumania to hold back, so that the two nations may intervene simultaneously. Three important results are expected by the allies from Italian-Rumanian intervention. It is expected to relieve the contraband situation, depress Austria morally and save Servia militarily. Petrograd minimizes the strategic value of the double intervention, whose military effectiveness is now so grossly overestimated. It is believed that Berlin would influence Vienna to compromise with Italy. Rumania is not resisting militarily because it is known that neither Italy nor Rumania feels secure from German military power.

ENGINEER TESTIFIES

New York, Jan. 21.—William C. Beer, an attorney for the Banco Nacional of Santo Domingo, which has been accused of seeking to exploit public contracts in the Dominican republic, was quoted at the inquiry into the fitness of James M. Sullivan, American minister to that republic, as having said he expected to share what profits he made in the alleged exploitation with Secretary of State Bryan, Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, and Congressman James A. Hamill of New Jersey.

M. E. Davis of New York, a contractor for supplies, testified he had been so informed by Beer while the two were on their way to Santo Domingo, Davis going with the expectation of securing government contracts which he said Beer had represented to him were to be had. The witness said that at the time he had taken Beer's statement seriously, but now believed the statement to be "silly rot." He declared Beer evidently was trying to make an impression and "using all means in his power to get money."

That Minister Sullivan had encouraged the Dominican government to bombard the city of Puerto Plata during the revolution in October, 1913, in spite of the fact that it would endanger American property there, was charged in testimony by G. O. Baker, a construction engineer.

Baker declared Sullivan was generally held responsible for the revolution and charged with precipitating it through his activity in connection with the lease of a railroad to the government, the terms of which the revolutionists objected to.

Interrogating a Reformer.

"I shall leave politics a poorer man than when I first accepted office," said the patriot.

"Excuse me," responded the friend, who is a little hard of hearing, "did you say 'poorer' or 'purer'?"—Washington Star.

CHAOS REIGNS IN LAND OF THE AZTECS

Four Groups Now Struggling For Supremacy.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Officials of the state department have thrown up their hands and are no longer trying to reach definite conclusions in regard to the immediate prospect in Mexico, but are simply awaiting further events. As nearly as can be determined, instead of two there are four groups now contending for supremacy. Carranza at Vera Cruz never has given up his claims to the provisional presidency and controls a large territory; Villa claims absolute dominion over the north and is said to be preparing for the establishment of a capital at Torreon; Zapata is reported to have established himself at Cuernavaca, his old stronghold, while Garza is in charge at Mexico City, with the title of provisional president conferred by the convention.

The state department is informed from Mexico City that Villa followers are leaving the capital for the north. Meanwhile the convention, known to have been greatly reduced in membership by defections, is continuing its sessions and, in the midst of all the confusion and anxiety in Mexico City, approved the first two articles of the plan for a Mexican government brought in by the Zapata delegates. This plan makes the convention the actual power in Mexico and creates a provisional president as a mere figurehead. The convention conferred upon Villa the title of commander-in-chief.

The United States produces about 40 per cent of the total coal output of the world, writes George H. Cushing in the Technical World Magazine. There are seventeen separate commercial products made from coal, and practically all of these are allowed in America to go up in smoke and are imported from Europe.

For example, all the aniline dyes are byproducts of coal, yet scarcely any of these are made in this country, and all our big cities "belch great vats of gorgeous colors into the air daily." Creosote oil is another such product that goes to waste in smoke and is then imported.

Fans at a Fire.

In Boston not long ago a fire broke out in the basement of a building occupied by a wholesale paint and chemical concern. The fumes and smoke became so thick that it was impossible for the firemen to enter the basement. A half dozen of the ordinary sixteen inch size electric fans were quickly requisitioned by the fire chiefs and their breeze directed down the staircase. As soon as the rear basement windows were broken to allow the escape of the smoke and fumes the effect of the fans gradually cleared the basement, so that the firemen could work easily.

Where the Danger Was.

"I'd save the world for you, dear," said the infatuated young man on the parlor sofa.

"Oh, that's all right," said the sweet young thing alongside of him. "Don't cross father."—Yonkers man.

The young man replied. "No, I have plenty of collars, but they are both in the laundry."—Indianapolis News.

SHEEP DOG TRIALS.

Australia's National Pastime, the Maltese Cross Test.

Sheep dog trials may be considered a national pastime if not a national sport in Australia. There is an annual agricultural show in every town and village in the pastoral parts. There are general competitions on the lines of the American county and state fairs. There are horse races, buck jumping, shearing, hog chopping and other strenuous competitions. But not one of these excites more interest than the sheep dog trials, and in these tests Australians have set the example of certain of the most serious tasks that a man and a dog may be asked to accomplish with three strange sheep—sheep that had never previously met until they had a moment before been turned out from three separate pens to be packed or gathered together by the dog.

It was the Australians who first put forward, and they still maintain it, the Maltese cross test. The eight six-foot hurdles are set in the shape of a Maltese cross. The passages are of a width that will permit only one sheep to pass through at a time. The animals have to be driven north and south and east and west, all the passes being open at the time. The skill and patience of the dog are here tried to the utmost, and there can be little wonder there is a gasp of satisfaction and a cheer of joy when the sheep have been successfully driven through these narrow ways.

The Australian sheep dogs are the smallest in use in the world, but are quick and lively in their work. It is no wonder that the Australian gives much thought for his dogs, for it goes without saying that the work of the sheep station could not be accomplished without them. In ordinary cases it is reckoned that one dog can do the work of half a dozen men. In many instances a dog is superior to fifty humans, and where there are such vast flocks of nimble sheep, such as the merinos in Australia are, it would be impossible to round them up so that they may be examined, counted and duly looked over without the dogs.—Argonaut.

"For the Sake of Argument."

"Well, now, for the sake of argument"—Is there a more irritating phrase? Is there any greater bore than the person who habitually employs it? To be asked to assume anything "just for the sake of argument" invariably prejudices us against making that concession. We sit grim lipped while the controversialist assumes and expounds. We feel that to oblige him we would not even assume that two and two make four.—Youth's Companion.

An Unsolved Problem.

"How, sir, is it possible," demanded counsel of a bankrupt who was undergoing his public examination, "to live in the luxurious style you have affected on £40 a year?"

"That," replied the bankrupt, "is a problem to which I have devoted considerable time in the interests of social economy, and the results of my humble efforts are now before the court."—London Mail.

Plenty of Collars.

A young man went into a clothing store and asked for a collar. The clerk waited on him and said: "They are 15 cents each, two for 25 cents. Want two?"

The young man replied. "No, I have plenty of collars, but they are both in the laundry."—Indianapolis News.

FINE ART EXHIBIT AROUSES ENTHUSIASM

The Art Exhibit at the High school this week is distinctly worth while and affords a splendid opportunity for the public generally, as well as the students, to familiarize themselves with the great artists and their masterpieces.

The opening of the exhibit was postponed until Wednesday, when it was visited by a large number.

The collection, known as the "Braun Art Exhibit", of New York, comprises 250 pictures, in both the brown photograph and heliogravures, the beautiful colored photograph made by the same process that the photograph of the original is colored, and gives a very fine reproduction.

Mr. Braun, the head of the firm, is an importer and official photographer at the Louvre Gallery in Paris, and his artistic judgment is displayed in the exhibit.

The most noted paintings of the masters of the Italian, French, English, Flemish, Dutch and Spanish schools are shown, the artists include Michael Angelo, Raphael, Rembrandt, Titian, Van Dyke, De Vinci, Reynolds, Gainsborough, Turner, Bonheur, Lerolle, Dupre, Trojan, Messinger, Lorain, Millet, Ghirivano, Carriglio, Maroni, Morelli, Israels, Peter de Hoogh, Velasquez, Murillo of the old school and many modern artists.

A loan exhibit of two dozen fine pictures brought from abroad by local people also adds to the interest of the exhibit.

Visitors will be welcomed Friday and Saturday all day and until 10 o'clock in the evening.

BOYS WILL BE TRIED SATURDAY

Saturday morning at nine o'clock Arthur Lindsey and Clifford Dailey, held in Springfield on burglary charges, will be tried in the Common Pleas court, and will probably be turned over to the juvenile court for investigation.

Sheriff Jones has received notices which were served upon the parents of the two youngsters, so they could be present when the pair were brought before the court.

The boys are accused of entering several places of business in South Charleston.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church is called for tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting is to be held for the purpose of changing the constitution of the church, converting it into a collegiate church.

All members, including those of East End Chapel are requested to be present.

WALLING NAMED FOR POSTMASTER

Congressman Post has recommended Percy A. Walling, editor of the newly launched Pickaway Observer, as postmaster at Circleville, and it is expected that Walling will succeed C. C. Chappelar, the present incumbent, whose term expires next month.

DANCES MUST CEASE OR ARRESTS FOLLOW

Mayor Coffey this week issued a final decree regarding "community dances" which have been held in various outlying parts of the city.

Violations of law resulting from the neighborhood dances will be prosecuted to the limit, His Honor announces.

CITY WILL PAVE ONE-HALF OF STREET

Some misunderstanding has resulted in the proposed paving of Leesburg avenue from Oakland avenue to Fairview avenue.

While the paving is to be 18 feet wide, the city pays only one-half of the 18 feet, and the county pays the remainder.

MOTHER AND CHILD ARE IN INFIRMIARY

A sequel to the case in which John Myers was sentenced to a term in the penitentiary last week, developed Wednesday, when his daughter who filed the complaint against Myers was, together with her 10-months old babe, taken to the County Infirmary.

The pair were in a very bad condition, having lived upon the charity of friends since the inhuman father was taken into custody.

The babe is said to be a hopeless cripple.

GETS PAYMENT FROM THE STATE

The State Industrial Commission has awarded J. M. Snyder, of West Market street, $66.71 for an injury recently sustained while in the employ of the J. W. Willis Lumber Co.

The award was made under the provisions of the Ohio Workmen's Compensation Law, and in addition to the above award, a medical bill of $26 was paid to the injured man.

Catching a Thief.

In Dewsbury several years ago a gentleman present at a public gathering had the misfortune to have his watch stolen, a magnificent gold repeater. Standing up, he announced his loss and added: "It is now two minutes to 9. At 9 o'clock the watch will strike the hour, and as it is loud I ask every one to keep quiet. We shall then be able to put our hands on the thief." A dead silence ensued, and one individual, seized with a bad fit of coughing, endeavored to leave the room. He was promptly accosted, searched and the missing property found in his pocket. It afterward transpired that the watch would not have struck, as it was out of order.—London Express.

A Thorough Case.

Every schoolroom is supposed to have its romancer or boaster.

There was a mild epidemic of mumps in an uptown school not long ago, and a teacher asked the pupils in her room how many remembered having the disease.

A few remembered it, but most of them had never heard of it.

Then the romancer attracted the teacher's attention.

"I get the mumps, teacher," he smilingly said. "I get it around my free so. And I get one by each eye—and one under my neck."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
